Boston Orchestra Plays For Alumni Ball; Date June 22

The gala event of the year for Northfield High school alumni is the Alumni Ball. This year this great event will take place on Wednesday evening, June 22.

According to Seth H. Field, president of the alumni association, the dance will be the "biggest and best ever."

It is planned to have an orchestra from Boston, which, according to a number of alumni who have heard it, is "sweet music." Everett Sittard, the leader, has visited here frequently and as a musician, has been featured with New England's leading dance orchestras.

Unusual and distinctive favors are being arranged for, and refreshments will be served at a slight extra charge over the dance fee, which is fifty cents per person.

The annual business meeting will be held during the intermission of the dance. The meeting this year is especially important, since the future of the Alumni Review will be discussed, and settled. Other matters pertaining to the association will be taken up.

Congregationalists Meet At Northfield Hotel

The Spring meeting of the Franklin County Congregational Club was held Tuesday evening at The Northfield Hotel with 200 people attending the dinner. A social hour preceded the banquet, during which visits were made to the Chateau near by.

Rev. Samuel Macaulay Lindsay D. D., minister of the Brooklyn Baptist Church, spoke on "What the Eye Saw and the Ear Heard in Russia in 1931." Dr. Lindsay said:—"Communism will never work in the United States because it can only function in a country not industrialized."

"People in the United States are interested in Russia for six reasons: First, he said Russia is one-sixth of the total area of the world; second, has 158,000,000 people; third, is a nation with a pure socialist government; fourth, is atheistic, taking the opinion of Carl Marx, who said that religion was opium; fifth, has succeeded in her five-year plan to be fully prepared in case of another war; sixth, controversial statements constantly come out of the country."

"So far as I could observe the people in Russia have plenty to eat and there is less immorality in Russia today than anywhere else. Conditions change every year which makes the reports variable." Music was furnish reports variable."

Vocal music was furnished by a mixed quartet from Mount Hermon, which included Mrs. Grove Deming, Mrs. Louis Smith, Chandler Holton, and Irving J. Lawrence.

President Roy R. Hatch of Mount Hermon presided.

Observes His Birthday

The 70th birthday of Dr. Henry F. Cutler, retiring head of Mount Hermon School, was celebrated last week-end by a family reunion at Ford Cottage, the home of Dr. and Mrs. Cutler. All six children of Dr. Cutler were present, but the 15 grandchildren could not come.

Henry F. Cutler Jr., with Mrs. Cutler, and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Cutler, all of Three Oaks, Michigan, motored here, picking up Conrad Cutler at Cleveland. Mr. and Mrs. William Bailey, Summit, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. George Heiser, Westwood, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Seibert, East Orange, N. J. were the children present. Other relatives who shared in the reunion were Mrs. Gamaliel Bradford of Welleley, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Ross of Mount Hermon, and Mrs. George Cutler of Springfield.

A large birthday cake was presented to Dr. Cutler by the senior class, together with a rousing cheer by the student body. Saturday evening the party were guests of Mrs. Bradford at The Northfield Hotel. Sunday afternoon there was an informal tea at Ford Cottage for the many friends who called.

Mr. Nelson A. Jackson, a member of the faculty for the past fourteen years, is to be the new head of the mathematics department, succeeding Prof. L. L. Norton who is retired. Before coming to Mount Hermon School Mr. Jackson was the principal of Friends Academy in Locust Valley, L. I., N. Y., and before going to the Academy, the new Mathematics head had a position similar to the one to which he has recently been elected in Keuka College for seven years.

The school band under the leadership of Leonard W. Ellinwood participated again on Memorial Day in the parade at Bernardston. Members are E. W. Currier, T. McKeel, W. Wyman, W. Goodale, P. Williams, C. H. Johnston, H. Stuart, V. Beatty, H. Gleason, H. Pederson, R. Car-pation as the final musical activity of the school year.

Final examinations are on this week at the Seminary and many students are quite anxious to learn of its results. The examinations began last Saturday and continue until Friday.

Northfield High Glee Club Concert Very Successful

A large and appreciative audience attended the entertainment given in Town Hall last Thursday evening for the benefit of the High School Glee Club. Miss Marion Webster and Miss Matthews had the productions in charge. The operetta, The Nifty Shop, was given by the Glee Club. The plays, given by students, were entitled: A Good Girl in the Kitchen, and The Lamp Went Out.

The young people were well drilled and showed careful training.

The program opened with the one act play, "A Good Girl in the Kitchen," with the following cast: Yennie Yenson, Monica Szeszowski; Mrs. Jennings, Catherine Sazawa; Julia Jennings, Rena Tyler; Josie Jennings, Margaret Gray; Samantha Jones, Abbie French; Mandy White, Evelyn Johnson; Mrs. Smith, Christine Brewer. The pantomime was entitled "And the Lamp Went Out" and had the following cast: Reader, Virginia Mann; Evelyn Vere de Vere, Dorothy Stone; Ralph Grayson, Myron Johnson; Mrs. Vere de Vere, Christine Gray; Herbert Vander-sleeve, Milton Twyon.

That Choir Picnic

The Congregational Church Choir and large chorus had their picnic last Friday. They gathered in autos from every quarter at the Auditorium while the sky was overcast, with the wind blowing and storm threatening every minute. Mr. Fitt, wearing a new straw hat was there as Marshall of the event but he was quite anxious as to the weather for it seems that he is a pretty good "picker" of stormy days on his calendar of events. Well it rained, yes it poured but the caravan wended its way to the Murray home-stead on Mount Ararat in the Winchester Hills and they kept dry on its spacious porch. Supper was served by the young ladies of the party and everything was appetizing even the drinks of "refreshing aqua" from the rain barrel. After the feast of good things the party "slid" down the mountain to Green Pastures where Mr. and Mrs. Fitt opened their comfortable home for an evening of further pleasure. Despite the rain the choir voted the affair a success and decided Mr. Fitt was a good weather prophet.

Don't Forget

Members of the Historical Society are reminded of the next quarterly meeting on Tuesday evening June 7 at eight o'clock in Dickinson Library hall. Several interesting subjects will be brought before the meeting.

Early fall dates have been announced by the State Federation of Women's Clubs which are of interest to all club women. A press conference will be held at South Deerfield, September 29, at which Mrs. Arthur Devens Potter of Greenfield will be a guest speaker. Mrs. Frank P. Bennett, newly elected president of the State federation will be the guest of honor. The New England conference has been announced for October 18, 19 and 20 at Mountain View house, Whitefield, N. H., while the fall conference of the state federation will be held in Framingham, Friday, October 14.

Northfield Observes Memorial Day; Honors Soldier Dead

Memorial Day was fittingly observed in Northfield and the day was warm and pleasant. At nine-thirty o'clock the parade started from Town Hall after formation under Marshall Clarence Steadler in the following order: Colors; Legion Drum Corps of Orange, American Legion, Sons of Union Veterans as escort to surviving members of the G. A. R., Woman's Relief Corp in autos, Boy Scouts and school children. The parade passed up Main street to Alexander Hall when the tablet of the G. A. R. was decorated and then proceeded to Center Cemetery to decorate the graves of soldiers buried there, while delegations prepared to visit the other cemeteries. Returning in parade formation to Town Hall the tablet of Word War veterans was decorated and the parade disbanded. The meeting in Town Hall was then called to order by Mr. W. G. Slate, chairman of the Memorial Day Committee and the following program was rendered:—

Singing "Battle Hymn of the Republic"; Reading of John A. Logan's order by the chairman; Prayer by Rev. Mr. Carne; Reading of Northfield's Roll of Honor by Commander Harold Bigelow of the American Legion; Singing, America; Reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address by John Hurley:—

"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate — we cannot consecrate — we cannot hallow — this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us,—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion — that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."—Abraham Lincoln.

Then followed the special program of the school children:—

Welcome, Enid Miner; Our Flag, song, Esther Smolen, Polly Haranak; In Memoriam, Stella Lernerowitz, Polly Haranak; The Soldier's Grave, Florence Hale; Here Comes the Flag, song, Children from No. 3; The Blue and the Gray, Eva Fisher; Tell Me What is Red as a Rose, song, Children from Center School; The Little Rebel, Lucille Bolton; Our Memorial Day, song, Children from East Intermediate; History of the Star Spangled Banner, Thelma Holton.

Following the school's program the orator of the Day was introduced. Judge Chester B. Jordan of Keene, N. H., son of a former governor of New Hampshire. He spoke eloquently on patriotism and love of country and sacrifice for the common good. Singing of The Star Spangled Banner ended the meeting with the benediction pronounced by Rev. Mr. Conner.

On Sunday morning the patriotic societies attended the Memorial services at the Unitarian Church and Mr. Conner's sermon is reported elsewhere in these columns.

Wreaths were laid and the flag displayed on 83 graves of soldiers buried in the cemeteries.

From Our Presses

There has been recently issued from our presses the final number of The Northfield Star of the Northfield Seminary and The Hermonite of Mount Hermon School for this season and the issues were very attractive and reflect great credit upon the Editorial Boards. And now The Northfield Alumni Review is issued in behalf of Northfield High School graduates in its initial bow. A fine paper and good Editorial staff. The Herald Print is proud of its family of periodicals which also includes the Powers Institute Quarterly of Bernardston and the Tail Spin of Greenfield. We can do a similar good service for others.

Schools Get Legacy

In a settlement of the estate of the late Mrs. Rebecca A. D. (Wendel) Swope of New York the Northfield Schools will receive the sum of $39,518, from her $17,000,000 estate according to a report of the New York State Transfer Tax department filed at the Surrogates court. The entire residue of the estate had been left to her sister, Von E. Wendel of New York with provisions made for disposal of part of it on death of Ella. Ella died March 13, 1931. Mrs. Swope died July 2, 1930.

EDITORIAL

The American Society of Newspaper Editors in session in Washington recently declared that the newspapers are a natural forum for the discussion of problems. Ever since The Herald was started this viewpoint was inaugurated and has been maintained and the public are invited to contribute to its Public Forum. The society in its declarations state that:

"The newspapers of the United States are the natural forum for discussion of such problems before the people and by the people."

"That it is a part of newspaper service to furnish opportunity and means for such discussion."

"The American newspapers, through their editorial pages, supplementing the use of their news columns, have an opportunity and a responsibility in the present situation to encourage and develop right thinking on the part of the newspaper-reading public to do their full part in the clarification of ideas and consequent action."

"That the people look to the press as never before for leadership and that the press solemnly and confidently accepts the challenge."

We are in hearty accord with these expressions.

Members of the Masonic fraternity were much impressed with the address delivered by Past Grand Master of Masons of Massachusetts at the dedication of the George Washington Masonic Memorial at Washington recently that we quote excerpts from his address for the benefit of the craft.

"This solemn ceremony of dedication is a proclamation to the world that millions of American Freemasons are determined to preserve in our civic structure those primary postulates basic in Masonry, basic in Washington's life, which are and must remain basic in our Government and in the lives of its citizens if our nation, indeed our civilization, is to endure."

"From the day of his making to the hour of his death Washington was a loyal and zealous Mason."

"In youth, Washington identified himself with our ancient Craft, in maturity, he clung to it."

"This magnificent Memorial, dedicated to such an exemplar of these principles and teachings, is placed upon this conspicuous hill-top to symbolize them to all the world."

"No discussion of the creed of any church is permitted within the tiled lodge room, and the attitude of Freemasonry toward any and all sects and denominations, toward any form of the honest worship of God, is not one of antagonism but of respect."

"Washington built his character for that spiritual temple, that house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

"This Memorial, with its doors open to all, symbolizes a Freemasonry which welcomes and bids Goodspeed to all who worship Him in spirit and in truth, by whatever name they call Him."

"Freemasonry, however, is unalterably and unequivocally opposed to attempts by any man or body of men, any authority, civil or ecclesiastical, any organization, religious or bolshevistic, to abate by one jot or tittle the rights of others to their own beliefs, to their own methods of manifesting their devotion to the Deity of their consciences."

"If within the power of Freemasons to prevent it, no sect, atheistic, agnostic or supremely religious, will be permitted to dominate, dictate or control civil government. Freemasonry has never attempted to do this, and would not if it had the power."

So mote it be.

Northfield observed Memorial Day with honor and with credit and the Committee in charge each succeeding year has well assumed its responsibility. Might it not be well for this Committee to organize in some permanent form with consent of its citizens as a Memorial Association representative of every Patriotic association to maintain the keeping and the spirit of the day and to perpetuate the local interest which in these latter days seems at times to falter. The present generation is passing and the oncoming citizenry should carry the torch and keep forever burning the memory and devotion which it owes to those men of all wars who died that we might enjoy the pursuit of happiness.

The history of our great country can be traced through its wars, and in each instance it will be found that we were fighting for independence. In each instance it will be found that we won that independence through the loyalty and bravery of the young men of the United States, young men who now lie buried in graves all over the country, young men who remembered us when they went to fight for our safety and happiness, young men whom we now remember on Memorial Day. It is a little thing to do to bring flowers to some soldier's grave, a little thing to do for him who died

A VERMONT GARDEN

A garden doesn't need a gate
Of extra great pretensions,
The width between two ground-set posts
Will measure its dimensions;
Two wide rough boards upon whose back
A set of cleats impinges.
And last, the ends of two old tugs
To make the floating hinges.

A fastener on the inside face
And over, or beside it,
A cathole to insert your hand
And lift the latch or slide it;
There's nothing 'bout the simple thing
To give you tweaks or twinges—
Three cheers for any garden gate
That turns on leather hinges!

The kind of gate will swing both ways

With compensating movement,
There's nothing can be done to it
'Twould make the least improvement;

It works when autumn's frost appears
Or summer's sunlight sings,
The kind of gate that brought me up
With almost-human hinges.

The robins chirruped on the top,
The dogs and cats crept under,
As well as roadside gully streams;
That followed clapping thunder;
The gooseberry bushes grew hard by
And trailed the stems and fringes
Between the gate posts and the gate
And tried to kiss the hinges.

'Twould almost open of itself
When both our hands were loaded
With any kind of garden greens
To which our tonsils loaded;
No thought upon my aging mind
With greater force impinges,
Than that the gate I loved has gone,
The gate with leather hinges.
DANIEL L. GATE.

UNKNOWN

I crossed a barren field in warscarred France

Toward evening of a gloomy Summer day;

Poor, spindling weeks grew in the sterile soil,

And rank grass stretched its snares across my way;

Stumbling, one hand outflung to stay my step,

I touched a leaning wooden cross that seemed

To shrink amid the tangled growth. A blur

Of white against the gathering dusk, it gleamed.

I bent above it, and with eager hands Pushed matted grass and windblown leaves apart,

And found one word, dim written, half defaced—

"Unknown." The word leaped out and struck my heart!

"Unknown." What mother, undisciplined, still

Day after day hopes in a hopeless quest!

"Unknown." No tears to bless his lonely grave,

No love to cherish his last place of rest!

Just then a sudden rift, a lighting cloud!

A ray of light straight leveled at the sod

Fell on the cross. Beneath the one sad word

I saw more words: "Unknown—but known to God."

Oh, sudden radiance through the gathering gloom!

Oh, ray of glory in the twilight dim! God keeps the secret of that lonely place.

Ah, sleep—in peace—for all is known to Him!

"Town's New Printing Co.
Gets Alumni Paper Job

N. H. S. alumni who have not been back to Northfield recently, will be interested to know who printed this alumni paper. The Northfield Printing Company had the job. This is a brand new company, with its first birthday just past. Alumni who, in reading this, picture to themselves a print shop like unto the old "Northfield Press," will be "way off the track."

Located in the buildings that used to be N. W. Keet's garage, south of the Unitarian church, the new company has most attractive quarters, housing the best of modern, new machinery, manned by capable workmen. Best of all, from their standpoint as well as ours, the plant and its weekly publication, "The Northfield Herald," have the patronage and whole-hearted support of the entire townspeople—something its predecessors never knew."

Northfield Loses To Shelburne Falls

Northfield lost a very slow and uninteresting game on Memorial Day, to Shelburne Falls by the score of 8-2. The local team failed to figure out the slow ball pitching of Kinsman. Although all the players but one managed to connect for one hit but they were so widely scattered that few runs could be realized from them. Urganiewicz struck out 12 of the 23 men that faced him which should be enough to help towards winning any ball game, but the base stealing ability of the visitors put them in a scoring position whenever they reached first base.

The pitching of Urganiewicz and a long base hit by Williams featured for the local team while La Rock shone at bat for Shelburne Falls.

The score follows:—

Through the efforts of Miles Morgan and the Greenfield office of the Standard Oil Company of New York Inc. there will be an Ethyl Gasoline Demonstration at the Morgan Garage on Tuesday evening June 7 at eight o'clock.

Representatives of the Ethyl Lead Corporation will be there with special apparatus consisting mainly of a gasoline engine equipped to show visible results and the advantages of using Socony Ethyl gasoline in a motor.

There has been a great deal of misunderstanding about this product, and this is an opportunity to learn the actual truths about Ethyl by witnessing an actual demonstration.

Besides a short screen talk on the development of this product, there will be an opportunity for motorists to ask questions concerning the use of Ethyl gasoline in their particular automobile.

This entertainment will be equally interesting to both men and women. And an invitation is extended to all motorists in Northfield and vicinity to attend.

"WHILE PARIS SLEEPS"
"THEY NEVER COME BACK"

Victor McLaglen, filmdom's towering leading man and hero of countless screen battles, portrays a sympathetic role in "While Paris Sleeps."

The drama begins in French Guiana, where McLaglen is serving life imprisonment for a crime committed shortly after his decoration as a war hero. Learning of his wife's death, which means his only daughter will be cast alone on the streets of Paris, McLaglen escapes from prison to return to his daughter's side.

Helen Mack, Fox Film's youngest actress and a Debutante Star of the current season, is seen in the appealing role of McLaglen's daughter. Led to believe her father died a hero's death in the war, her memory of him is retained by honoring the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Because of his years as a convict, and the prisoner's death he evaded only by escaping, McLaglen is forced to keep his identity a secret after he discovers his daughter in Paris.

How he watches over her, however, and prevents her from falling prey to a cunning, treacherous band of apaches, constitutes the dramatic conflict of the story interwoven with a romantic love.

There is a rare treat in store for fight fans this week at the Lawler Theatre, where "They Never Come Back," a new Artclass drama, was shown for the first time locally yesterday. The new story opens with a peach of a fight in Madison Square Garden, gallops at a break-neck pace through a second bout, and winds up with a free-for-all that will make you want to stand up and cheer. If you want action in your screen fare, "They Never Come Back" is a natural for you from the first gong.

And in the breathing spells, Director Fred Newmeyer has developed a dramatic story, with a dash of romance, that will give the girls a thrill or two of their own. In fact, come to think of it, besides the fights which were more than enough to satisfy me, "They Never Come Back" seems to offer a little bit of almost everything you can expect to see in any screen play—from Broadway night clubs to the bars of prison; from a homey, side-street kitchen to a sports gymnasium.

"BORDER DEVILS"
Featuring Harry Carey, Star of "Trader Horn"
"THE STRANGE LOVE OF MOLLY LOUVAIN"

Lee Tracy and Ann Dvorak, leading players in "The Strange Love of Molly Louvain" have been given one of the most talented supporting casts ever assembled by a studio.

Tracy best known for his roles in "Broadway," "Front Page" and "Louder Please" on the Broadway stage, has been given his biggest picture role in "The Strange Love of Molly Louvain."

Ann Dvorak first came into prominence through the splendid manner in which she played her role opposite James Cagney in "The Crowd Roars."

Ann Dvorak, Lee Tracy and Richard Cromwell in a scene from First National's "The Strange Love of Molly Louvain."

the stirring racing drama. Previously, she had appeared in "Scarface" and "Sky Devils" for Howard Hughes, both of which were directed by Howard Hawks, who also directed "The Crowd Roars."

The supporting players in clude Richard Cromwell, star of the talkie version of "Tol'able David;" Guy Kibbie, famous for his varieties of character portrayals; Leslie Fenton, one of the most successful of Hollywood's young actors; Frank McHugh, famous for both comedy and newspaper reporter characterizations; Evalyn Knapp, charming ingenue of George Arliss in "Millionaire" and recently cast with him in a prominent role of "Successful Calamity."

Others in the large cast are Charles Middleton, C. Henry Gordon, Mary Doran, Willard Robertson, Harry Beresford, Harold Weldridge, William Burress, Claire McDowell, Maurice Black, Ben Alexander, Ben Taggart, Walter Percival, Hank Mann and many others, all of whom are specialists in types and characterizations, thus giving "The Strange Love of Molly Louvain" a verity uncommon in screen offerings.

Pastor Speaks On "Faith Of Our Fathers"

Over one hundred persons attended the evening service last Sunday at the Congregational Church. In keeping with Memorial Day Sunday the pastor, Rev. W. Stanley Carne, spoke on "The Faith of Our Fathers." He said in part:

Theodore Roosevelt once said that the American republic might last for 50 years more. That was over 20 years ago. Are there evidences in our national life that what President Roosevelt said has elements of truth in it? Are there factors which if not checked will end the republic within the life of people now living?

It is interesting to remember that none of the great nations of the earth have governments as old as the United States. For over 150 years our government has been practically unchanged. But many think we have almost reached a time when our form of government must readjust itself and give up its mould for something new.

Israel in the Old Testament attempted to rule the people substantially as in the United States. They had tribes where we have states. The leaders came from among their own people. Each tribe was autonomous. Together they had a national consciousness. But the plan failed in Israel at last. Why it was not permanently successful can be explained in a few words. Israel was not attacked or defeated by external foes. Internal weakness and disintegration led to a change in the form of government.

These New England hills and valleys contain evidences of the integrity and sacrificial labors of our forefathers in the churches and schoolhouses they established. Come down to the present moment and ask if the old virtues prevail, or are we headed in the same direction as ancient Israel went?

There is a saying that there are three generations from shirt sleeves to shirtsleeves. The momentum of the grandfather's toil and sacrifice carries forward his son. But if that son lacks vision and character there is not enough momentum to carry the grandson to successful living.

As we look around we see signs of deterioration in our nation?

This is an age of bravado with some. They take a negative or a hostile attitude in matters of prime fundamental importance in religion and morals. Every American should be proud of the faith of the fathers on which the nation was founded and stands. We must read God not out of our life, but into life.

There is corruption and incompetency in the government of the large cities which cannot continue indefinitely. The public press has deteriorated. Many of the best papers have gone to the wall the past 20 years. So much of the current press and pictures brings disgrace and despair to homes and hearts!

There is disrespect of law. How easily we smile at breaches of the laws! If we choose not to regard the voice of the people expressed in laws, shall we turn to mob government?

Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom in a democracy. We must be fighters for progress, prosperity, the preservation of all that is best in our nation. Not to fight would be to give up our birthright and blessing. The mighty triumvirate on which America was built—the home, the church, the school—must be watched over with interest and prayer for the sake of the nation. If either is shaken our national life will be weakened and, outflanked by the darkness of the world, the church has always been the rallying point of the nation.

The Christian people must stand in battle array for God and the church. Have we turned to God in this hour of our great need? I believe we are turning the corner. God's will, not our own, must be done. Let us in a new consecration seize the banner, saying, "The Lord of hosts, he will deliver us." The faith of our fathers is the only way of safety. God alone is sufficient to save us. Let us be wise and turn to him!

North Church Notes

(The Christian Science Monitor)
This colonial city on the banks of the Potomac river, Alexandria Va., recently was host to a Masonic Legion. From the north, south, east and west they had come, almost overnight, to dedicate a massive granite temple built from the contributions of the 3,000,000 members of the Craft, and erected to the memory of George Washington, the Mason.

Almost nine years have passed since Nov. 1, 1923, when the corner stone of this $4,000,000 edifice was laid by President Coolidge. A notable gathering was assembled and 30,000 Masons marched through the streets of Alexandria to the slopes of Shooters Hill to witness the ceremonies. It was a notable day in the local history of Masonry, and for the entire North American brotherhood; the ceremony had far greater significance than the simple laying of another corner stone. It emphasized the unity of the order, and proclaimed its understanding of the purpose back of the memorial.

And so the week of May 12, 1932 marked another ceremony of much importance to Masons. This time 100,000 Masons gathered and with them, once more, a president of the United States.

That Shooters Hill was chosen for the massive granite structure is peculiarly appropriate for this was the hill owned by Washington and selected by Thomas Jefferson and James Madison for the site of the National Capitol. For personal reasons Washington opposed the choice, for he was unwilling to take any public action that might be construed as an aid to his wealth.

That the tower should have been modeled after an ancient zikkurat lighthouse is also appropriate, for from its apex a beacon light will some day send its rays far and wide to guide the Craft traveling by sea, air and land, as centuries ago the lighthouse guided mariners on the Mediterranean.

Alexandria threw itself enthusiastically into the celebration for its famous citizen, who on Nov. 4, 1752, took his first degree in Masonry in the Fredericksburg Lodge No. 4; became an honorary member in Lodge No. 39, Alexandria, in 1784, and Master of the Alexandria Lodge No. 22 in 1788. The name of the latter lodge was changed in 1805, with the consent of the Grand Lodge of Virginia, to the Alexandria-Washington Lodge No. 22.

From records within the lodge's archives it is shown that for several years the lodge had no permanent home, frequently meeting in "buildings unsuited for assemblies." Money for a temple was finally raised and, around 1815, a "commodious structure was erected." Within a few years the lodge became almost a storehouse for mementoes presented to it by Washington's intimate friends and relatives. As a result, the Alexandria City Council in 1818 appropriated the entire story of one wing of the City hall "for the purpose of a museum."

Mr. Raymond Griswold who coached this performance was interlocutor. Special dance acts were presented by the Misses Norma Rosenzweig, Barbara Brooks, Jacquelin Quillow and Norma Briggs of Greenfield with Robert Palin as the boy dancer. Miss Dorothea Foster, accompanist, was presented with a bouquet of cut flowers by the president of the P. T. A. Mrs. Ernest Schaufus. Also Miss Lucy Wilson was presented with the prize given by the association for selling 56 tickets. Because this minstrel show proved to be so successful, as did last year's, it is hoped that a minstrel will become an annual event.

A Memorial celebration was held Monday. The Mount Hermon Band consisting of 21 pieces played and children from the various grade schools spoke pieces and sang songs. There were two adult singers, Mrs. Robert Hastings and Mr. Charles Grant. The speaker was Dr. Lester White from Northfield. Rev. George of the Baptist Church offered a word of prayer. After the services every one marched to the cemetery. The American flag came first, then the band, then boy scouts and after them the children and older people. Our only war veteran, Mr. Church, was also in the parade. At the cemetery taps were sounded and flowers laid on graves. All the people gathered around the circle and prayer was offered by Rev. Joseph Allen. Then all marched back to the square and broke ranks. The band played a short program of songs and then departed for the school.

A. F. E. PROFITS GO BACK TO FARMERS IN LOWERED PRICES

Co-operative Buying Brings Down
Cost of Feeds, Fertilizers and
Other Farm Supplies

The farmer who isn't out to reduce his operating costs in these times is harder to find than a Scotchman on Tag Day, and the Associated Farmers' Exchanges are doing a good job in bringing prices down to rockbottom.

Nowadays it takes more than smooth-tongued salesmanship to convince the farmer that he should make money for the grain dealer, when he can just as well turn every penny of profit back to his own pocket by dealing with the co-operative A. F. E.

The A. F. E., handles only highest grade feeds. Repeated tests by the State officials have proven these feeds even better than guaranteed. No adulteration ever gets into them. Oat hulls, screening, cereal bran, ground oat feed and the like are strangers to the Associated. They are never used in their More Value and Profit Maker Feeds.

The Associated is proud of its list of prize cattle raised on these feeds. This list and the record of these cows, also the reports made by State officials on Profit Maker and More Value Feeds may be seen by anyone interested, at the A. F. E. Headquarters at 278 Main Street, Greenfield.

The A. F. E., is run on a no-profit basis, that is to say, all profits are returned to the members in lowered prices. Its operating costs are away below those of the grain dealer—this means rent, taxes, insurance, wagon deliveries—in fact every item that enters into the cost of carrying on the work of the A. F. E. Further, there are no high salaried officials to skim off the cream.

So it doesn't take much effort to see that with this very low operating cost and all profit returned to its members, the A. F. E. is doing a real job for its farmers.

After all, the farmer is buying just one thing—results. A. F. E. supplies get results—in flesh and milk. The records on file at headquarters prove this beyond possibility of dispute.

This matter of where you will buy your supplies come down to just this: are you in business to make money for yourself, or for the grain dealer? If you want to pay for that gentleman's big house in town, if you want to put up for his Pierce Arrow car, then you won't be interested in the Associated Farmers' Exchanges.

If, on the other hand, you want to put more money into your own bank account and to give your family the luxuries they'd like, then you'd best get into touch with the manager of the nearest A. F. E. store.

You'll find him a mighty good fellow to know and too, the acquaintance will soon prove highly profitable in dollars and cents. You'll find this man at the Associated Farmers' Exchange store in any one of the following:

Legion To Canvass For More Members

The local company of the American Legion will make a special effort to rush all membership cards and dues into department headquarters in order that every veteran who joins before July 1st will receive the thirty-two-page magazine-size booklet describing all federal and state laws affecting veterans, Harold F. Bigelow, post commander said.

The Legion booklet will be free to all members whose cards are received in the offices of the American Legion Monthly by July 10th. This means that they should leave here as soon as possible, and not later than July 1st.

No veteran should be without the booklet, the Legion official said. Nothing of the kind has ever been issued before. It is written in language that any one can understand. All technical phrases have been eliminated, and suggestions have been inserted to guide any ex-service man or woman as to benefits which a grateful government has provided for those deserving compensation, hospitalization etc.

Not only disabled veterans, but all others, will find need for the booklet, as it goes thoroughly and plainly into every law that has been passed pertaining to World war service people.

"The Worthiness Of Cause"

In the discourse which Rev. Mr. Conner gave Sunday morning, with patriotic bodies present, he said in part:

"The worthiness of the cause for which men fought and offered their lives is recognized in the day which the nation sets apart for honors to its dead. Men ally themselves to that for which they have acted. They both receive and give. They receive quality from the ideal for which they live; they give character to the actual which they build before their fellows. A man has in the home which he makes an expression of his life. And so a man has in the country which he serves, in its laws, in its institutions, in its government, a commentary on his character. If the principle written in law, expressed in institution, and upheld in government be good, then do we judge him who offered his life for it worthy of honor.

"If a man die in a duel, he merits no memorial. His act was for pride or revenge. He used the weapon of self-assertion only. If a man fall to his death in some daring aerial flight, he deserves no tribute from the heart of humanity. His deed was possibly to win applause louder than that he or others had received before. Those who die in districts of country visited by pestilence and are cut down in great numbers by the deadly scourge we honor not more than those who pass singly to the unseen, having finished their course in fullness of years. We pay honor, and the greatest honor, to him whose self-sacrifice reaches farthest for the good of mankind, and are ready for the reward of memory where men have lived and died for principles as wide and lasting as a nation.

"The graves of the dead are watched and tended by a care that measures the extent the human love whose form is buried reached into the life of others. Sometimes memory is ungrateful and untrue, but generally it is not. And again, the care of graves extends in time proportionate to the greatness of the guardian that is summoned to their side. A family burying ground is neglected and forgotten finally because it summons a family only to its side. That of a town or city is cared for while the town or city endures. The care of the nation's dead is wider and still more enduring. So long as it is a nation, the graves of its heroes shall be kept and their sleeping dust remembered. In a sense therefore "The brave Die never, Being deathless, They but change. Their country's arms for more—their country's heart."

You won't be able to say enough about "Specialized Lubrication" after you have tried it. The Morgan Garage. Jan. 12-19-26-Adv.

Washington's Ride Through The State

"George Washington," accompanied by his two secretaries, "Tobias Lear" and "Major William Jackson," and his retinue of colored servants, is ready to ride over the route from Agawam to Boston, which on June 8, 9, and 10, is to be dedicated the Massachusetts George Washington Memorial Highway.

With but few deviations, the 1932 portrayers of Washington and his party will retrace the steps taken by the Father of our Country, when he came to Massachusetts as the first President of the United States in 1789.

The re-enactment of Washington's historic trip is being sponsored by the Massachusetts George Washington Bicentennial Commission, of which Governor Joseph B. Ely is Honorary Chairman.

The dedication will have its inception at the state line at Agawam, where the Massachusetts delegation will meet a great cavalcade from the state of Connecticut. At this point, the Massachusetts Memorial Highway will be linked with the Connecticut Washington Memorial Highway, running across the Nutmeg state from New Haven.

One of the outstanding events on the dedication program will take place at Springfield. Exercises will be held at the unveiling of a tablet at the foot of Ferry Lane (now Cypress street), the point where Washington landed when he crossed the Connecticut river on a ferry boat. At this point, a delegation of mounted men, portraying Colonial characters, will welcome "Washington," and a scene similar to that which transpired when Washington came to Massachusetts will be re-enacted. Accompanied by the Connecticut delegation, the Massachusetts "Washington" procession will be escorted by the Springfield welcoming party to the Government armory in Springfield, the first armory established in the United States, which Washington, himself created. From this point, the cavalcade will travel to a point opposite the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company on the highway, where a tablet marking the highway, will be unveiled. In the evening a joint observance by the two State Commissions, with the Governors, and other notables, officiating, will take place at the Hotel Kimball. The Massachusetts delegation will stop at Springfield for the night, where they will be the guests of the Hotel Kimball.

On the following morning, June 9, "Washington" and his party, accompanied by the Massachusetts delegation will proceed on its way to Boston. "Washington" and his party will be tendered a luncheon on this day at Spencer.

After stops at Leicester, Worcester, Shrewsbury, and Northboro, "Washington" will arrive in the evening at Marlborough. Exercises will be held in this city in the historic Williams Tavern. "Washington" will stop here for the night.

On the following morning, June 10, "Washington" will set out for Boston stopping at Wayside Inn, Wayland, Weston, and Waltham, where a luncheon will be tendered the party. After the luncheon, the procession will move to Boston, stopping at Watertown and Cambridge enroute.

With The Scholars Of Northfield Schools

Last week Mr. Spencer loaned a car in order that several of the High School pupils might go to the ball game at Hinsdale. Ray Kervian was the driver. The students very much appreciated the kindness of Mr. Spencer.

Much credit must be given Miss Webster and Miss Matthews for the successful presentation of an evening's entertainment at the Town Hall last Thursday evening. The first half of the program was devoted to a one act play, "A Good Girl in the Kitchen"—and a pantomime—and the "Light Went Out."

The feature of the evening was an operetta—The Nifty Shoppe—an innovation in high school performance. No one person can be singled out as being a star for each one did exceptionally well from the owner of the Nifty Shop, Grace McGowan, to her maid Olga, Margaret Gray; from the wealthy shopper, acted by Christine Gray and her fastidious daughters Abbie French and Marion Leach; to the group of models in the shop who added a great deal to the success of the operetta. Much credit must be given Dorothy Stone and Elizabeth Auclair, the two French maids who danced two numbers which were

Ball game with Hinsdale last Friday worked out entirely by the former. Day was not finished on account of rain. It was called off at the middle of the 5th inning, when Northfield was ahead 4-1.

Only one school lunch this week, which will be served on Thursday.

There will be a Sub, Freshmen Program Friday, June 3, at High School. After the Sub, Freshmen are introduced to some of the subjects they will be expected to take next year, there will be a program.

Old Egremont Organizes

Incorporation of the Old Egremont Association under a plan somewhat similar to the Lake Placid Club was announced here tonight by Major Hugh Smiley, president of the association which has been restoring this village of Egremont to Colonial architecture and atmosphere under the name of "Old Egremont." The announcement was made at a unique "home folks" party given to the residents of the entire town of Egremont by Major and Mrs. Hugh Smiley as the opening event at Egremont Inn, one of the several historic establishments restored in the Old Egremont program, which has included the purchase and restoration of more than two dozen buildings, 3,000 acres of land, the erection of log cabins, cottages and other structures, and control of other properties including a golf club.

For five months the association has functioned as an informal body with Major Smiley as president. For ten years Major Smiley has been acquiring and developing the properties here and in Great Barrington, including the big Berkshire Inn and the William Cullen Bryant house in that town. In his announcement Major Smiley told the "home folks" that incorporation of the association was for the purpose facilitating greater development of Old Egremont and to enable residents of the town to enjoy the privileges of the properties as well as to enhance the value of their own properties.

Contemporary with the opening of Egremont Inn, the Berkshire Inn was also opened for the season. Old Egremont Tavern, opened last October went on summer schedule, and Major Smiley announced that reservations for hotel and inns, for cottages and cabins promise a successful season for the unique resort project. The Old Egremont Herald, published as the official news journal of this community in the style of early American newspapers, will announce in its forthcoming issue many details of the association development. An article by Walter Prichard Eaton on Mt. Everett and the state reservation adjoining the Smiley properties is among the contributions which include an article concerning "An Older Egremont" in Cumberland, England, from which Egremont, Mass. takes its name.
